

Open in app ↗

Sign up

Sign in

Medium

Search

Write

Brigid's Arrow

The Dead Do Not Praise

Carole Fontaine, WUNRN Research Associate-USA

Follow

Jan 23, 2025

50

2

An Alternate View in a Time of Distress

They say the dead do not praise Yahweh,
and perhaps that is true:
Sky-God, Lord of Light —
who would look for him there,
in the land of the Dead?

But the dead, had they voice,
what would they say, had they voice,
and would we listen?

They say, "The Goddess recycles."
The Pit is everywhere,
but only we see it.
Our hope is not cut off.
Our tree is not cut down.

In the midst of the darkness
there shines a wild, bright light.

Poetry

Regeneration

Goddess

Transformation

Brigidsarrow

Published in Brigid's Arrow

143 followers · Last published Sep 14, 2025

Brigid's Arrow is a magazine dedicated to exploring Interspiritual Experience

Follow